WENDY'S WORLD

Wendy Carnegie,

Can you believe it? It's now July and that means that 2011 is half over. Where does it go? I'm continually surprised how fast time flies.

My apologies to Marvin Fouty. He celebrated his 37 year of Mensa membership last month. I inadvertently listed him as Frances Fouty. Why I did that I do not know. I know he is Marvin. Again, my apologies Marvin.

August is the month for our Annual Party--a celebration of Mid-Michigan Mensa's anniversary. Gail and Al Wolfe have again graciously offered to host the party at their home. The date is tentatively set for the first weekend of August. As soon as it is finalized, it will be posted on the web site calendar. The date will also be in the August Head-Line. Meat will be provided (usually hamburgs, hotdogs, and chicken). Bring a dish to pass, your bathing suit and towel, and come for some fun and relaxation with your Mensa family.

I'm planning on spending a week in the Upper Peninsula at the end of July. I haven't been there in years and am looking forward to it. I especially want to visit Tahquamenon Falls. I've never been there. I'm going with a friend. We will go west from St. Ignace. We hope to visit Escanaba, Manistique, Fayette, Ironwood, Copper Harbor, Porcupine Mountains, Houghton/Hancock, Pictured Rocks, Tahquamenon Falls, and if time permits, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario for a ride on the Agawa Canyon Train Tour.

August will find me in Stratford, Ontario for a weekend of plays, shopping, and sight-seeing. We will see 3 plays: The Misanthrope, The Homecoming, and Twelfth Night. Brian Bedford, one of my favorite actors, is starring in The Misanthrope and Brian Dennehy stars in the other two. It should be a great weekend.

I have no big plans for the Fourth, just to relax and enjoy the fireworks. May your celebrations be full of fun.

Until next month...

Frankly Speaking

by Frank Dolinar, LocSec

July brings the annual Mensa pilgrimage to the AG, being held this year in Portland, Oregon. It will be the first AG held in the Pacific Northwest. If you are able to attend, have a great trip and a great time.

July also brings, in the United States, our most important national holiday. We call it the Fourth of July, which it is, but that's just a reference to the date. For most of us, it's a day off work, an opportunity to get together with family and friends, often for a mid-Summer picnic and similar pursuits.

More correctly it is Independence Day, a commemoration of a singular moment in history.

Two hundred and thirty-five years ago the Founding Fathers risked everything they were and everything they had to sever the relationship between the American colonies and the British. On July 4th 1776 the Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, formally adopted the Declaration of Independence.

It was unlike any previous event in world history. More than two centuries later, it continues to be a force in the world's changing political landscape. It's not a very long document and is very much worth reading. Yet, too many in this country have never read it – in many cases because they find history boring or irrelevant. It is neither.

There is a single line in the middle of the second paragraph that is the core of the motivation and intent of the Founding Fathers. It reads, "But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security."

Think about where our country began and the courage it took for those highly educated men to risk all on an idea. Think about where our country has been, where it is today, and where it may be going. Decide whether the trends you perceive are worthy of this country. Participate in the process.

It's your government.
It is your right, it is your duty, to be part of it.

reMARK, June, 2011

Betsy Yvonne Mark, RVC3

With much gratitude I begin my second term as Regional Vice Chair for the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley Region of American Mensa. I am honored to continue representing Region 3 on Mensa's Board of Directors. I look forward to the next 2 years. I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has served as a local officer, proctored a test, edited a newsletter, contributed to a newsletter, served on any Mensa committee, attended any Mensa function, read any Mensa publication, or done anything else that has supported Mensa. You have made my experience as a Mensan and your RVC wonderful and I thank you for your efforts. Please consider enhancing your Mensa experience by getting involved. In fact, you could be Region 3's next RVC. As much as I truly love what I have done and am doing, I will not be running for a 3rd term. Do consider serving Mensa in this most awesome way!

I had a great time visiting with Vandalia Mensans in Charleston, West Virginia, at the end of May. I was sorry that those who live in the Morgantown area were not able to join me for lunch. Next year!

As you read this column I hope you are at the Annual Gathering in Portland, Oregon, where I am. I know I'm having an awesome time!

I am hoping to attend the RGs listed below (okay, so the December AMC meeting conflicts with the Cincinnati RG and that makes me not happy, but you go and enjoy!) and to visit those Region 3 local groups who do not have RGs during the coming months. With early deadlines for newsletters, I may not be able to announce my presence in advance, but I will do so by posting to the Yahoo and Facebook sites listed after my salutation. Sometimes I even make an unexpected appearance at a group's activity.

Register now for the following Region 3 events:

Steering Committee Meeting Minutes

Wendy Carnegie, Scribe

May 13, 2011

PRESENT: Frank Dolinar, Eileen Hatt, Wendy Carnegie, Deborah Frank, and John Garrison.

ABSENT: Elizabeth Evangelista.

The meeting was called to order at 7:15 PM by Loc Sec, Frank Dolinar.

The minutes of the May 13, 2011, meeting were accepted with the following corrections. Doug McCall informed Loc Sec, Frank Dolinar, that he did not consent to being a member of the Steering Committee. It was a misunderstanding by Wendy Carnegie, the Scribe. The second correction is that it was the Lansing Masonic Lodge that offered to have us join them on the concession stand offer at Cooly Law School Stadium, not the Mason Masonic Lodge.

Wendy announced a Games Night on Friday, June 24, 2011, to follow dinner at the Brookshire Inn. She also said she will host another one on Friday, July 22, 2011, after dinner. Both will be at her home. If anyone has a particular game they would like to play, bring it along and come on over. Wendy has some of the new games from Mind Quest 2011.

Frank and Deborah are in the process of setting a date to work on arranging a time for being wait staff at a Texas Hold'm game. They will also discuss the final details for going on facebook.

Frank still needs to contact the Cooley Law School Stadium regarding running a concession stand as a money making project.

There was some discussion about the budget. Frank will talk with Roy Saper, Treasurer, to set up a time for the Steering Committee and Roy to get together and go over the budget.

Gail Wolfe has again graciously offered the use of her home for our Annual Party in August. Wendy will get in touch with Gail about a date, as a member has a request for a certain weekend.

Frank and Deborah will get together with Joanne Sullivan regarding Scholarship and facebook.

Steering Meeting Minutes--Continued

Eileen said she will be setting up a Saturday and a Weeknight in July for a Mensa Testing.

It was moved and seconded to adjourn at 7:40 PM.

THINK ABOUT THESE

BY John Garrison

Now and then I write down interesting things that I hear. Let me share some of them with my fellow 2%ers.

When you open your mind to the impossible, sometimes you find the truth.

Some Pandora's boxes are better left unopened.

There is no problem that is too great that an answer cannot be found.

Sit back and relax. Take a deep breath and imagine the impossible. Then prove that it is possible.

Food For Thought

By Barb Ford

In our day-to-day lives, we have so much to do and think about just to survive. Distractions are at an all time high. What with commercial messages coming at us wherever we look, traffic, electronic communication devices, pollution, finances, work demands, and taking care of our families and our homes, we are all pretty much overloaded. Don't even get me started on our poor diets or contaminated food supply…that is fodder for another day. How did we get here? Don't get me wrong…I just love some of these things, and would rather not live without them. It's just that in the name of progress, we have lost sight of many simple little things that are so amazing about our world.

In the last few years, I have made regular attempts to step off the grid and notice the interesting things around me. It took a concerted effort at first, but now it is second nature to me. I think I am healthier mentally, emotionally, and spiritually for it; and it gives me time to acknowledge how grateful I am to be here and to be me. Whether you think I am crazy or not…I challenge you to take a moment to notice and think about little things around you. It just may change your life.
Here are some of the things I have recently pondered:

The play of afternoon sunlight on grass as it makes its way through tree leaves.

The sound of croaking frogs on the first warm nights of Springtime.

Twinkling patterns of fireflies as they dance among the trees at night.

Insects drawn to the yard light and the swooping bats that feed on them.

The sounds of the hens as they lay their precious eggs.

The proud crow of a rooster as he watches over his flock.

A purring cat….how does it do that? Watching a dog dream.

To gaze at a rock and know that it was created eons ago.

Observing the amazing instinctive behavior of animals; wild and domestic.

The peacefulness of a sleeping child.

How a kind word can make a dog's tail wag.

The wonder of it all!

Money Bags

In 2011 we're going to experience four unusual dates.

1-11-11, 1-11-11, 11-1-11, and 11-11-11. And that's not all...

Take the last two digits of the year in which you were born - -now add the age you will be this year (2011),

The results will be 111 for everyone in the whole world. This is the year of the Monkey.

This year July and October will have 5 Fridays, 5 Saturdays, and 5 Sundays.

This happens once every 823 years. These particular years are known as "Money Bags."

The proverb goes that if you send this to eight good friends money will appear in the next four days as it is explained in Chinese FENGSHUI.

Those who don't continue the chain won't receive...

Diabologic: Foolishness

by Frank Dolinar

If you read, think about what you read, and discuss ideas, you will eventually find yourself in discussions with people who read different things or think differently than you do. Some will think you are foolish.

Take this personally, take it to heart, and realize that you are in fine company. If the only people you have discussions with always agree with you, you can't learn something new from them. Worse, there's really no need for the discussions.

A friend once explained that the substance of an introductory course in information theory boils down to a simple idea: "You can tell how much information you receive in a message by how surprised you are."

If you're never surprised, you're not learning. If you're not learning, what are you doing with your life?

Here are a few examples of foolishness. I'm not sure where I found these or how long I've had them, but I do believe they are worth sharing. I present them for your edification and amusement.

- Teaching a course as if you expected all the students to do well and then doing everything you can to make sure they do well.
- Perceiving that a knowledge of art and history help us understand new developments in technology -- as well as in culture and politics. Rome, Athens, Alexandria, and Carthage (as well as Altimira and Lascaux) still have a lot to teach us.
- Believing that common courtesy is important -- and not so very common.
- Not being limited to your first impression of the person, place, or situation. Things aren't always what they initially seem and the landscape morphs as we watch.
- Realizing that anyone can learn new tricks.
- Dreaming of the day when molecule sized machines help correct some of our most difficult problems, from cancer to pollution -- problems that remain intractable at the human scale.

Diabologic--Continued

- Finding out that Zen has a lot more to offer the art of motorcycle maintenance than first imagined.
- It's all folk music.
- Bullwinkle is a lot smarter than he looks.
- Learning enough American History from Stan Freberg to:
  - understand that the Founding Fathers were people who made difficult decisions;
  - discover that there is humor in even the most dramatic situation; and
  - ace the final.

Finally, just because technology is ubiquitous in the fabric of our culture and we can do things that prior generations would have considered magic, doesn't mean that we are smarter than our ancestors.

Wednesday August 24 at 6:30 pm

The New Century Buffet has a great variety of food, including traditional Chinese, made-to-order sushi, a poached salmon and sirloin of beef, with ice cream, fruit, cookies and cobbler or strudel for dessert. Even the vegetarians who attended last year were well satisfied with the food.

We have our own room reserved at the back of the restaurant, and we can stay and talk as long as we want. Adult dinner is under $10 and we will even have some discount coupons. Being able to go up to the buffet anytime you arrive is perfect for such a large group who are coming and going at different times.

Last year we had over fifty Ms from Toledo to Saginaw and Roseville to Portage in attendance. We hope to see you this year!

Directions:
All directions: The New Century Buffet is in the center of the strip mall on the S.E. Corner of Grand River Avenue and Latson Road, on the far east side of Howell.

From Ann Arbor area and south: Take US-23 to I-96 west. Take the Lake Chemung exit (#141). Turn left and go about one mile, the Buffet is on the left in the middle of the strip mall.

From Detroit area: Take I-96 west and then follow the directions above.

From the Flint area: Take US-23 south and exit at M-59 (exit #67). Go west to Latson Road. Turn left (south) on Latson and then left again on Grand River, and the Buffet is immediately on the right.

From Lansing area: Take I-96 east to the M-59 exit (#133) just before Howell. Exit and turn right at Grand River Avenue. Go through Howell until you pass Latson Road (just past Meijers and Wal-Mart). The Buffet is on your right.
