WENDY'S WORLD

Wendy Carnegie,

February is here and Groundhog Day is just around the corner. With the winter we've had so far, maybe the groundhog won't see his shadow and we will have an early spring. That would be really nice.

I went back to the holiday website to see what was special about February. I was surprised to see that besides Valentine's Day and Groundhog Day there are many more celebrations. There is Paul Bunyan Day, Super Bowl Sunday history, President's Day, and this year, Leap Year. This year Lent starts in February. It's also Library Lovers Month, American Heart Month, Grapefruit Month, National Cherry Month, National Black History Month, and National Weddings Month among others. There are also Weekly February Observances: Women's Heart Week (1-7), Dump Your Significant Jerk Week (5-11), International Friendship Week (6-10), National Condom Week (14-21) International Flirting Week (13-19), and National Pancake week among others. Don't forget daily observances. There's National Girls and Women in Sports Day (1), Working Naked Day (1)The Day the Music Died Day (3), Ice Cream for Breakfast Day (4), Super Bowl XLVI (5), Satisfied Staying Single Day (11), Darwin Day (12), League of Women Voters Day (14), Mardi Gras and Paczki Day (21), and Bachelor's Day (29) to name a few. It's a busier month than I knew!

I received an email from Howard Prince at AML that CultureQuest XXIII will take place on Sunday, April 29, 2012. For our newer members, CultureQuest is a trivia buff competition. It is timed (90 minutes) and taken at the same time across the nation. We usually have 2 teams (5 members on each team), but can have more if there is enough interest. You trivia buffs save the day and encourage others to join in.

Has anyone checked out MENSA's Weekly Brainwave? I am on the way to being hooked on it. The topics are interesting and varied. Check it out if you haven't already.

American Mensa, Ltd. is currently having a Prior Evidence Promotion in January and February. If you know of anyone who may be qualified and have prior test scores, let them know about this promotion. For every application received by February 29, 2012, with our group code, Mid-Michigan Mensa will receive $1. The application fee is $40, but if they use the promotion code WPE 488 (Our group code) they will receive $10 off.

Frankly Speaking

by Frank Dolinar, LocSec

February! Are you tired of winter yet?

The snow has been sparse, but the cold temperatures and the wind chill have been… bracing.

Chill weather and the sluggish economy have primed my attitude for this year's political circus.

More to the point, however, is an ongoing problem the chapter is having with its money supply. Over the last few years, the money available to the chapter has been slowly dwindling. The situation is not dire, but the trend is obvious, long-term, and requires progressive belt-tightening.

We'd like to reverse this trend by doing some fundraising, without asking the membership to open its collective wallet. We're currently considering things like a poker night or staffing a concession stand at LugNuts games. Other suggestions would be welcome.

As I mentioned last month, we need a cadre of about 15 volunteers who can commit to helping us with fundraising efforts. Volunteers need to be available, reliable, willing to sign up for the activity, and to actually show up at the agreed upon time. (These steps are a bit like those described by Robert Heinlein's in his discussion of how to become a published author, with each step being more difficult to achieve than its predecessor.)

I realize that everyone's schedule is full and constantly varying. However, if you're interested, or even willing to learn more about what's needed, please get in touch with the steering committee or come to one of our Friday TGIF dinners to discuss it.

In the current economy, we – as a volunteer organization – need all the help we can get.

It's your Mensa.
Be part of it.

reMARK, February 2012

Betsy Yvonne Mark, RVC3

Well, that's an experience I hope I do not ever have to repeat! I wrote last month that I had attended the American Mensa Committee (AMC) meeting in Las Vegas the first weekend in December. That column was written a month earlier and that, most certainly, was my intention. However, at the last minute I had to cancel my trip. Not willing to leave Region 3 without a vote, I arranged to attend the meeting via a phone connection. I tried using the speakerphone, but was not able to hear very well, so nine hours of holding the phone to my ears except for two 15-minute breaks and an hour lunch break made for two very sore ears and one very tired RVC!

This was definitely not the way to be at a meeting! When it came time to vote, I raised my hand, but couldn't be seen. Then it was, "Betsy, how do you vote?" Had to "un-mute" to vote or to voice my opinion. There were presentations that I could hear, but not see. There were facial expressions that couldn't be seen. I know I missed out on the discussions held during lunch and the breaks. Other than the placement of my name placard next to the phone microphone, a cute picture of which was sent to me, the experience was just plain awful. Skyping might have made it a bit better, but not enough to ever get me to say that board meetings can be effectively conducted via conference call instead of in person.

In December I wrote to LocSecs asking for nominations to represent Region 3 on the National Nominating Committee. Self-nominations are welcome until February 24. I need your name, local group and your Mensa biography. I will prepare a ballot to be distributed to Region 3 LocSecs on February 25. The 3 top vote getters will be presented for approval by the AMC at the March meeting. Remember that anyone serving on the NomComm or anyone living at that same address cannot run for a national office. The NomComm will decide its role (the primary role will be to find members to run for office – Chair, 1st Vice Chair, 2nd Vice Chair, Secretary, Treasurer, and Regional Vice Chairs – but it may empower itself to pass judgment on those who seek NomComm endorsement) when it meets at the 2012 AG in Reno. NomComm members do NOT need to attend the AG. Looking forward to hearing from you soon!

Logic Puzzle

Bob Henderson

You are traveling through Alternia, a country divided into East and West halves. Natives always tell the truth in their own half of the country, but they always lie when visiting the other half. What simple question can you ask any native to find out which half of the country you both are in? Is there another simple question you can ask a second native nearby such that his answer reveals whether the first native is telling the truth? You don't even need the first answer in order to solve the second puzzle!

Steering Committee Meeting Minutes

Wendy Carnegie, Scribe

January 13, 2012

Present: Frank Dolinar, Wendy Carnegie, Elizabeth Evangelista, and Eileen Hatt.

The meeting was called to order by LocSec, Frank Dolinar.

The minutes of the December 9, 2011, meeting were reviewed. Elizabeth moved the minutes be accepted as printed and Wendy seconded the motion.

Frank reported that he had received a warning from AML about a potential scam against Mensa members. Wendy reported she also received an email about the scam. See article on page 10 for further information. Frank also reported that he really enjoyed the new Mensa offering: Weekly Brainwave. Wendy said she did too and had mentioned it in her Head-line column in the January issue.

Frank reported that he had received the Treasurer's Fourth Quarter 2011 and the 2011 Summary Report from Treasurer, Roy Saper. Elizabeth said she has noticed a consistent downhill trend in the balance. She questioned what we could do to raise money. Wendy presented a pamphlet she picked up from Kwik Car Wash on community fundraising. It is a way for nonprofit organizations to raise money. We would sell Kwik Car Wash certificates (within a one month period) for $11. Wendy will go to Kwik Car Wash and talk with those in charge to get questions answered and will report back at the next meeting. Elizabeth brought up the circus as a project, but was informed that the Masons closed down the Caravan circus project due to money loss and poor chance it would be able to increase profits as the Shrine Circus was coming again in January, affecting attendance at the Caravan Circus which is usually in March.

Wendy reported that she is working on having the Head-Line uploaded to the AML web site for all Mensans to view. She is also working on emailing the Head-LIne to those members who have email. She will contact those members about this. It will take a couple months to get this accomplished.

Elizabeth reported that she has several speakers lined up and is looking for more.

With no further business to discuss, the meeting was adjourned.

Food For Thought

By Barb Ford

It's interesting how we gravitate to things we remember as children. Sometimes things we hear, feel, smell, see or taste transport us back to more tender times. When I hear the song Amazing Grace, I think of my grandmother, and how she loved this old song. As thunderstorms approach on a hot summer afternoon, I long to stand in the yard and feel the cool refreshing air that precedes them. Then I wait to hear my mother's frantic call to come inside: she was scared to death of violent storms. Afterwards, when I smell the ozone produced by that thunderstorm, I get the urge to splash in clean puddles on the concrete driveway; to release the pent up energy generated by being cooped up inside during the bad weather. When I look into a flame, I am inevitably drawn into it, and remember the bonfires on the beach we had when building my childhood home on the lake in Michigan. If I get that rare opportunity to taste really good lemon meringue pie, I am transported back into my mother's kitchen. She made it the best! Walking into someone's home and smelling a roast cooking always makes me think of home, and the love Mom put into preparing wonderful meals for us.

Sometimes not so tender times are recalled by the senses. I remember the first time I tasted a Harvey Wallbanger (with Galliano) in the '70s, I was slapped back into a five-year-old's memory of awful tasting cough medicine given to me when I got sick while on vacation in Traverse City. YUK! I can still remember that fat creepy doctor who gagged me with a tongue depressor to see my throat. Sometimes when I smell roses and it is really hot outside, I think of the funerals of my Grandparents. Really, the odor almost makes me feel faint with grief. You can imagine that roses are not my favorite flowers!

For the most part, my sensory generated memories are more good than bad. As I get older, I pay closer attention to them as they happen, and if I am able, I close my eyes and enjoy the memory. If you ever see me with my eyes closed, and a little smile on my face; leave me alone. If I am drooling and a slight snore is emanating from my lips; wake me up.

Potential Scam Targeting Mensa Members

Howard Prince, American Mensa

American Mensa has just been alerted to a potential scam, trying to collect personal information and/or funds from its members. The scam references the fictitious organization "Mensa World Affairs" and claims to be trying to complete a bank transfer or direct deposit on the member's behalf. At this early stage, calls are known to be using a 714 area code and may reference a phony Web site (http://www.usamensa.org) that includes familiar content, photos and faces culled from our own sites. If you receive any calls or emails from this "organization," DO NOT give them any information and DO NOT enter your AML password on this site.

Please note that anyone officially contacting you from American Mensa will be able to confirm your membership number and other personal information. Further, please note that legitimate national and international Mensa Web sites include the following:

See you at the Grand Traverse Pie Co., on the 17th for dinner and Carol's talk!

Answer to Logic Puzzle

Answers: Ask the first native if he is an Easterner. If he answers "Yes", you are both in the East, since he is either an Easterner telling the truth or a Westerner who is lying. If he says "No", you are both in the West.

Ask the second native if the first native is from the same half of the country as he is. If he answers "Yes", they could both be locals telling the truth, or the second native could be a visitor who is lying. In either case the first native is a local denizen who tells the truth. The opposite is true if the second native answers "No".

Nano & G.R.I.N. – 21st Century Technology

Frank Dolinar is teaching a short course, "Nano & GRIN: 21st Century Tech" for the MSU Evening College (http://alumni.msu.edu/eveningCollege/), beginning Tuesday, March 13, 2012. See the course description below.

Nanotechnology – precision engineering at the molecular scale – has been described as the industrial revolution of the 21st century. Mimicking biological systems, such as DNA, researchers are engineering new systems with specific characteristics and functions:

- stronger, lighter, self-assembling materials
- more effective energy generation, distribution, and storage
- smaller, faster, and easier to use computers
- targeted, flexible, and effective medical diagnostics and therapies

Today, a broader concept – G.R.I.N. (Genetics, Robotics, Information Tech, & Nanotech) – is making its way into our perceptions. G.R.I.N. appears as a dense conceptual network, with each new advance spawning further possibilities.

This course will examine these topics, look at the benefits they'll bring to our lives, discuss how they might interact, and consider whether G.R.I.N. is a better descriptor for 21st Century Tech.

Further details of the time, place, and cost for this course are available on-line at http://alumni.msu.edu/eveningCollege/course.cfm?id=539
